DETAILED ACTION

Claim Interpretations

1. It should be noted that applicant's claims are directed to an apparatus for transferring a microplate. However the claims make references to elements that are not positively claimed as elements of the invention such as dispenser nozzles and microplate. As such, it should be noted references to such elements are not considered limiting of the transferring apparatus. Claim 2 is directed to the nozzles, as such the claim is not further limiting of the transferring apparatus. In terms of lengthwise and crosswise, it is assumed applicant is referencing movement in two dimensions within a horizontal plane (X,Y).

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the guide members (rail receivers) must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

- 3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
 - The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.
- 4. Claims1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for an assembly for transferring including a collection of elements including a lower plate 3, does not reasonably provide enablement for the device functioning without such lower plate. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. There is no description provided of how such a device will function without the lower plate being present therein.
- 5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 1743

6. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Applicant employs means plus function language in the claims, however the means are not specified/defined in the specification so as to allow one to determine what element(s) are considered to define each of the recited respective means (transferring, shifting, moving, claimed.

It is further unclear what element(s) corresponds to the claimed elastic member. For the purpose of examination it is assumed to reference spring 10, 13. The language/terms employed within the claims are not consistent with that of the specification.

While applicants paragraph [0014] defines a guide mechanism defined by a collection of elements, it is unclear what corresponds applicants, "one or more guide members". It should be noted the slide rails are attached to the unclaimed lower plate.

It appears as if the means for moving is described in paragraph [0019], however it is unclear what element(s) defines such means.

As to the means for locking, the text implies that the support plate can be locked and moved simultaneously. How can a single plate be locked in a position but yet move.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

8. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated De Beukeleer et al, US 6,868,875

De Beukeleer et al. disclose the invention as claimed as illustrated in Figure 4 and described therein (for example at column 6, lines 1-19).

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Wulf, Juergen et al; Davies; Douglas et al.; Werner Rene Irene et al.; Sun; Xiao-Dong; and Pfost; Dale R. et al. disclose moveable supports within transferring devices.
